

Important Open Enrollment Season Tips

A Message from Carina Esparza Renewal Specialist

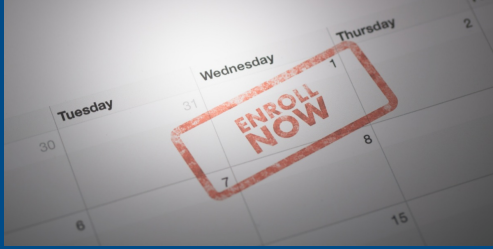

As open enrollment approaches, it's crucial for employers to guide their employees through this process, ensuring they are well-prepared for any changes. By providing clear information and support, you can help your team make informed decisions that will positively impact their healthcare and financial well-being. Here are some key tips and reminders for you to pass along to your employees:

1. Review Current Benefits: Encourage employees to reflect on their current plan and any changes over the past year. Assessing how they utilized their benefits can help them determine the best adjustments for themselves and their families.
2. Understand Options: Advise employees to carefully read and analyze all available plan offerings to find the best fit for their needs. Remind them to utilize HR or an Account Manager to navigate different benefits and plan designs.
3. Timely Enrollment: Stress the importance of meeting enrollment deadlines and ensuring all required medical applications or documents are submitted on time.
4. Consider Life Changes: Urge employees to consider any life changes (e.g., marriage, children, upcoming surgery) that might affect their benefits. Suggest they investigate adjusting their plan type, utilizing an HSA, or enrolling in additional benefits for long-term health investments.
5. Education: Encourage employees to become informed consumers of their health benefits. Suggest they attend enrollment meetings, research in-network providers, or opt for virtual care options that often offer bilingual providers and greater scheduling flexibility.

Thank you for your dedication to guiding your employees through this important open enrollment season. By providing clear information and support, you empower your team to make informed decisions that will positively impact their healthcare and financial well-being.
